THE CONVENTION ADVOCATES

Give Up Early in Game—Ben
Johnson's Telegram
Turns the Tide.

MAY BE ANOTHER CANDIDATE

Democratic candidates for State offices at the November election will be nominated by a primary, and the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate will be endorsed by the primary, but so far as any action taken at Friday's meeting in Louisville of the Democratic State Executive Committee indicates, these candidates will run merely as the candidates of and with the support and backing of that party, without any platform or general declaration of principles.

By a vote of nine to three, the committee voted down a proposition to issue a call for a platform convention to be held before the primary, and there was no talk of holding such convention after the primary.

Plans heretofore adopted to hold the primary on May 27 were changed so as to have the primary on July 1, and an official call for that date was adopted. This call provides that all registered Democrats and independents may vote at the primary and have a hand in selecting the Democratic candidates for State offices.

The committee fixed fifteen days before July 1 as the time limit for the entries to close in the primary, but urged all candidates to file notice of entry at least thirty days before July 1.

Prior to the committee meeting Friday, it was generally believed that an effort would be made to repeal the former action of the committee to nominate by a State primary, but the convention advocates, finding themselves in the minority, abandoned the plan.

Judge Allie Young, over the long distance telephone, announced he would not enter the gubernatorial race as long as Senator McCreary remained a candidate. McCreary has no idea of quitting the race.

The backbone of the convention advocates was broken when Sam T. Spalding, committeeman from the Fourth district, who had been championing the convention idea, received a long telegram from Ben Johnson, from Washington, urging him to stand by the primary. In behalf of Ollie M. James, for United States Senator. The effort to call off the primary was mainly from the opponents of Mr. James. When Spalding changed over, they acknowledged their defeat and threw up the sponge.

At a meeting of the committee two weeks ago, this attempt was also defeated.

It was announced this would be the last meeting of the committee until July 20, when a meeting will be held to count the vote in the primary and declare the result.

It is the belief of many that a platform convention will be held in July.

A new subcommittee to have charge of the details of the primary was chosen, consisting of Messrs. Thompson, McDonough, Fitch, Lawrence and Young. This was done on motion of Mr. Spalding. The former committee consisted of Messrs. Young, Rhea and Meagher.

The date of the primary was postponed because so much time had been lost by the candidates in the canvass, owing to the uncertainty created by continued jockeying in the committee since the first call, that it was thought more time should be allowed for the primary campaign.

It is the current belief that at least one new candidate for Governor will be in the field in a few days.

Official Primary Call.

The official call issued by the Democratic State Executive Committee is as follows:

Notice.
Democratic State Primary Election:
Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Democratic State Executive Committee of Kentucky, held in the city of Louisville Friday, March 3, 1911, at which meeting all members were present in person or by proxy, it was ordered by said committee that a primary election be held under the primary election laws of this Commonwealth in each precinct thereof on Saturday, July 1, 1911, for the purpose of selecting the following Democratic nominees, to wit:

United States Senator.
Governor.
Lieutenant Governor.
Attorney General.
Auditor.
Treasurer.
Secretary of State.
Superintendent of Public Instruction.
Commissioner of Agriculture.
Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The polls in each precinct of this Commonwealth will be opened at the usual voting places at 6 a. m. and closed at 4 p. m.

This 3d day of March, 1911.
HENRY R. PREWITT,
Chairman of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee.
R. G. PHILLIPS, Secretary.

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE RECORD OF THE CONGRESS

Just Closed—A Few of the Important Measures Enacted or Passed.

Out of the smoke of the closing battle in Congress emerge these results of larger interest:

Positive Results.
Provision of $3,000,000 for the fortification of the Panama canal.
Provision for two new battleships.
Reclassification of the judicial code—regarded as the most important for the amelioration of the law's delays.

Negative Results.
Failure of the Canadian reciprocity agreement and consequent certainty of an extra session.

Failure of the permanent tariff board bill, which passed the Senate, but was killed by a filibuster in the House.

Failure of the resolution to admit to Statehood Arizona and New Mexico, killed by a filibuster in the Senate.

Failure of the proposal to increase the rate of postage on the advertising sections of the large magazines, but a commission provided for to investigate the subject.

Failure of the resolution providing for the direct election of United States Senators.

Failure of the general age pension bill.

Failure to act on Ballinger-Pinchot investigation reports.

Failure to enact the ocean mail subsidy, passed by the Senate alone.

Failure of the effort to unseat William Lorimer as Senator from Illinois on the ground of alleged bribery in his election.

DAVLESS COUNTY MAN SHOOTSELF FATAL

Owensboro, Ky., March 5.—Frank Keller, one of the best known young farmers of Davless county, committed suicide this morning, shortly after arising, by shooting himself through the brain with a thirty-two Florent Rife. A note was found on his bed, which he had written late Saturday night, stating that he would be thirty-one years old Sunday, and that he would end his life, as it had been one of misery.

He and his brother John recently purchased a large farm, and were "batching" in a small tenant house. This morning his brother had gone into the kitchen to prepare breakfast, when he heard the report of the rifle and went into the adjoining room to find his brother lying on the floor dead.

Keller had been confined to his bed with typhoid fever, and this is said to be the cause of his despondency.

THINK STANLEY WILL ENTER RACE

For Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination.

HE WILL COME TO LOUISVILLE

To-day to Confer With Anxious Friends—Is Being Strongly Urged.

WHAT THE GENTLEMAN SAYS

The Courier-Journal of Monday says:
Definite announcement as to whether Congressman A. O. Stanley will enter the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky in the primary is expected this week. Telegrams were received from him yesterday stating that he will arrive here Wednesday from Washington and will go immediately into conference with his political friends from various parts of the State to discuss the question of his entering the field.

From the nature of some of the messages received by Louisville friends it is generally believed that Mr. Stanley will shortly make a formal announcement of his aspirations. In fact, one of his closest political advisers said last night that he did not think there was any doubt but that the Second district Representative would be in the race within less than a week. The conference to be held by Mr. Stanley upon his arrival in Louisville Wednesday morning will be attended, it is said, by political leaders from practically every Congressional district in Kentucky.

For the purpose of discussing the political situation in Kentucky in general, and in some districts in particular, in order to be in a position to present all of the facts to Mr. Stanley at the conference, several of his advisers held a conference yesterday afternoon. This meeting, it was learned last night, was attended by leaders from the Second, Fourth, Fifth and one or two other districts, and all of those present, it is said, left the meeting enthusiastic over the chances they believe Mr. Stanley would have in the primary.

From one who attended the conference it was learned that at the meeting Wednesday Mr. Stanley will be asked to make the race for the nomination and to make his formal announcement that day. In a letter received from Mr. Stanley during the past week he practically agreed, it is said, to enter. Relative to the conference to be held by him Wednesday and to his attitude on making a fight for the nomination, the closing paragraph in Mr. Stanley's letter said:

"I can assure you that I shall be guided, not by any personal preference or personal ambition, but with an eye single to the good of the Democratic party, and that alone."

'T WAS ONLY "HOT AIR" BUT IT "RILED" THINGS

Montgomery, Ala., March 3.—When the Alabama Legislature was in the midst of a warm debate tonight on a liquor bill, some person, who evidently thought the "hot air" arising from the chamber was evidence of flames, shouted "Fire!"

All was confusion in a second and the solons deserted the building on a run.

Another excited individual called the Fire Department and business was suspended in the city.

News was flashed all over the country that the historic Capitol building, where Jeff Davis was inaugurated President of the Confederacy, was doomed, and telegrams poured in.

The Legislature returned after a halt hour's interruption and again took up the debate.

CALLS FOR AN EXTRA SESSION

April 4th for Adoption of Canadian Treaty.

AN OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION

Is Promulgated to Conform With Terms of Treaty Pact.

AN EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

President Taft has fixed April 4 as the date for the convening of the Sixty-second Congress in extraordinary session. The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, by the special message, dated January 26, 1911, there was transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives an agreement between the Department of State and the Canadian Government in regard to reciprocal tariff legislation, together with an earnest recommendation that the necessary legislation be promptly adopted;

"And, whereas, a bill to carry into effect said agreement has passed the House of Representatives but has failed to reach a vote in the Senate;

"And, whereas, the agreement stipulates not only the President of the United States will communicate to the Congress the conclusions now reached and recommends the adoption of such legislation as may be necessary on the part of the United States to give effect to the proposed agreement, but also that the Governments of the two countries will use their utmost efforts to bring about such changes by concurrent legislation at Washington and at Ottawa;

"Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power vested in me by the Constitution, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the convening of both Houses of the Congress of the United States at their respective chambers in the city of Washington on the 4th day of April, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon, to the end that they may consider and determine whether the Congress shall, by necessary legislation, make operative the agreement.

"All persons entitled to act as members of the Sixty-second Congress are required to take notice of this proclamation.

"Given under my hand and the seal of the United States, at Washington, the 4th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and eleven and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and thirty-fifth."

KENTUCKY HEIRS SEEK TO RECOVER PROPERTY

Frankfort, Ky., March 3.—Heirs of Charles Calvert, grandson of Lord Baltimore, founder of the city of Baltimore, who live in Kentucky, have decided to meet at Georgetown March 8 to determine what steps shall be taken to recover millions of dollars' worth of property they claim to have inherited.

Charles Calvert, a Tory, became angry with his 11 sons because they joined the Revolutionary army and leased a large tract of land that had been granted to him by King George in the State of Maryland for 99 years.

This lease has expired and more than 1,000 heirs of Charles Calvert who reside in almost every State in the Union have decided to meet to take steps to recover their property.

A "Surprise" Supper.
Beaver Dam, Ky., March 4, 1911.
The Baptist ladies gave Mr. and Mrs. Will Cooper a surprise supper at their home in Beaver Dam the 3d inst. After the luxuries were all placed on the table, all went to the parlor, where devotional exercises were conducted by Bros. A. B. Gardner and G. H. Lawrence. Then all went to the dining room and partook of the sumptuous feast. Those present were: Bros. Gardner and Lawrence, Madams Lawrence, Sam Taylor, John King, Joy Dunn, Roy Tichenor, J. N. Jarnagin, Mildred Oldham, Jim Phelps, Cora Casebier, Jim Tichenor, Nellie Newton, Donnie Taylor, Ollie Miller, Mertie Burgess, Jose Austin, Annie Peters, Levett Blankenship, Ora Chinn, Maude Stewart and Jane Williams. All report a delightful time.

Our town greatly regret to give up this most highly esteemed family. They go to Hartford to take charge of the New Commercial Hotel. They have many friends here and go well recommended, as they have an extended experience in this business. We predict for them a bright future and want to congratulate Hartford in securing such estimable people.

Dies Near Herbert.

A SHIP LOAD OF FOOD FOR STARVING CHINESE

Cargo Will Keep 30,000 Alive Until Harvest—Vessel Loaded Free.

Seattle, Wash., March 5. The United States army transport Buford, loaded with provisions for the famine sufferers in North China, sailed today for Chinkian, flying the pennants of the National Red Cross, the Christian Herald, of New York, and the Seattle Commercial Club.

The last available cargo space was filled late last night when four hundred bags of rice, purchased with a contribution of $1,000 telegraphed from Reading, Pa., were stowed away by longshoremen, who loaded the relief ship free of charge.

The cargo of the Buford, valued at $50,000, and contributed by organizations and citizens from all parts of the United States, will keep 30,000 starving Chinese alive until harvest next June. A great crowd was at the dock to see the Buford get away. An hour before sailing time religious services under the auspices of the Christian Herald were held aboard the ship. Every denomination in the city was represented, and a delegation was present from the Chinese Consulate.

The Commercial Club will continue its campaign for funds. The committee has been advised that $100,000 will be needed in the next thirty days. This is in addition to the provisions taken by the Buford.

Contributions of supplies sent too late to be loaded on the Buford are being received. The Commercial Club has arranged with the trans-Pacific steamship lines to handle these shipments, and they will be forwarded to the famine district free of charge.

DAD WAS ON THE JOB AND HEADED DAUGHTER OFF

Campbellsville, Ky., March 2.—Pretty Emma Jane Webster, 14, petite, blonde and belle of Taylor county, was one of the principals in an interrupted honeymoon, although Ed Scott, 21, with whom she eloped, and to whom she was wedded, told her all dreams had come true.

The child-wife is the daughter of Cliff Webster, a prosperous farmer near here, and when he heard of the marriage, set about to recapture his daughter. When the couple returned to join the bridegroom's family, preparatory to going South to live, the father was on hand, but Emma Jane did not know it.

When she left the telephone booth after throwing kisses over the phone to her mother, her father detained her.

CHINESE THAT ARE STARVING

Trampled Twenty-one Persons to Death.

DESPERATE FIGHT FOR FOOD

Being Distributed by Missionaries Precipitated a Fearful Riot.

AWFUL CONDITIONS PREVAIL

Hankow, China, March 4.—Twenty-one persons were trampled to death at Sha-yang, Huaipei Province, today, when a horde of starving Chinese fought for food, which the missionaries were attempting to distribute. A great many others were injured.

The work of relief is attended with peril to those who have taken supplies into the famine districts, as the natives in many instances are mad with depravations.

To-day a considerable amount of food stuff was received by the missionaries, who immediately planned a systematic distribution. Their work was hardly begun when thousands of starving men, women and children swooped down upon the supply depot.

A riot which could not be controlled followed. Each fought for himself, and the weaker went down and were ruthlessly trampled. The fighting continued as long as there appeared to be anything to fight for. The missionaries were helpless.

The whole empire has been stricken with famine and the plague. Perhaps never before in the past 300 years has such a combination of disaster laid its hand on the people. Millions are actually starving to death. Tens of thousands are ill, and plague victims are counted by hundreds. The superstitions of the people in the rural and interior districts lay them open to the ravages of the bubonic plague and starvation. There are few, if any, foreigners in the interior.

What is known to the outside world of the horrible sufferings, missionaries here say, hampers description. There are piles of bodies of the starving in every city. It is counted as one of the world's most disastrous famines.

BIG COAL MINE DEAL— FERN HILL MINES SOLD

The Owensboro Inquirer says:
A deal was consummated on Saturday by which a one-half interest in the Fern Hill Coal company was sold to H. Morton, of Drakesboro. The amount involved in the transaction the parties to it refused to give out, but it is known that it is several thousand dollars.

The Fern Hill Coal company has holdings aggregating about $70,000. Its mineral rights consist of 587½ acres, and its coal thistle is on West Third street. The company was owned by L. Newman Birk, O. L. Tindler and Mrs. Grace Adams Durrance. The deal with Mr. Morton involves the entire interest of Mrs. Durrance and one-half the interest of Mr. Tindler, who owned one-third of the stock in the corporation, which gives Mr. Morton a half interest in the property. Mr. Birk did not dispose of his holdings, and will still retain his position as president of the company.

It is understood that an operating company will be formed within a few days, and will lease the Fern Hill Coal company, with Mr. Morton having entire charge of the operation of the mines. Mr. Tindler will be manager of the office at the thistle.

Mr. Morton has been in the coal business for a number of years at Drakesboro, and only recently sold his business known as the Louisville and Atlantic Coal company to capitalists in West Virginia and Tennessee.

Wilson's Cash Prices

Are Low!!

Read
Why:

We realize more and more every day the importance of doing business on a strictly Cash basis. If you should ask that we charge an item for only a day or so, and we refuse, you are going to think it stubbornness on our part or that we are afraid to risk you. Now, if you will look at our side of the question you will see what it means for us. A profit, of course, provided we could collect every account and at the time they were to have been paid. While we know that there are a number of people who are absolutely good and will pay promptly, still there are many people that cannot pay as soon as they aim to, or when they would like to. Furthermore, as every one knows, there are so many accounts that cannot be collected at all. Also a person running a credit business has a whole lot of extra work in attending to charge tickets, sending out statements, etc., besides running the chance of forgetting to charge all goods sold on credit. Another unpleasant part of a credit business is that there are a lot of people who, if you ask them to pay their accounts, will get mad at you. Again, we have those who cannot pay when they promised to, who will not come into our store and trade with us so long as they are owing us. Understand, we do not mean that every one who owes a merchant will treat him in this manner, but a large percentage of the trade will do this.

Now, we are going to ask our trade to kindly study for a few minutes the reasons why we feel it best to do a strictly cash business. No one enjoys accommodating a friend more than we do, but for the above reasons, we are going to ask that you please DO NOT ask for credit, as we will be compelled to refuse you, whether you are worth thousands or are the poorest man in the country. While we mean this for everyone, we do not want anyone to feel that we have gotten this out for their special benefit. We have friends that we have accommodated in times gone by, and who we would be glad to favor now, but, as stated above, we cannot CREDIT anyone. We hope and feel that our friends will appreciate our position and will kindly ask that you help us out in this matter. In any other way we can accommodate our trade, we shall be more than glad to do so. Our aim shall be to give every customer prompt and careful attention and the benefit of as low prices as we can possibly afford. Below we quote some special prices. Good during the balance of March. Can you match them anywhere? At all times we aim to have special bargains, so keep in touch with us and we will make it to your interest.

WE GIVE PREMIUMS on goods you buy from us. Save your Tickets. At first a person thinks that these tickets do not amount to much, but just save them for a short time and you will then realize how rapidly they count up. We will exchange premiums for your tickets any time you will bring them in. When you can buy goods from us as cheap as you can buy elsewhere, why not trade with us and get the benefit of these premiums free of charge? NOTICE! We do not give premiums on goods quoted in this "ad." The prices we are quoting here are so extremely low, is the reason for this. Examine these items carefully. You will find them exceedingly interesting, if you will take price and quality into consideration. EVERYTHING MUST be as we Represent and You Will Find it So on Examination.

HOW TO AVOID CONSUMPTION

Disease is Not Considered Hereditary

AND CAN EASILY BE DODGED

Common Sense Methods of Open Air Life, Avoiding Contamination.

SIMPLE REMEDIES EMPLOYED

Consumption is not inherited. This is a scientific conclusion, because the Health Department in its bulletin has so decreed. The announcement no doubt will relieve many minds. Besides this, the bulletin tells you how not to "catch" consumption or not let consumption "catch" you. Read and obey the following suggestions and you will be able to dodge the germs:

1. Avoid careless consumptives.
2. Avoid food from consumptive animals.
3. Avoid dusty places.
4. Avoid foul air.
5. Avoid human "jams."
6. Live in the sunshine as much as possible.
7. Live in the fresh, blowing air as much as possible.
8. Unhouse yourself as much as possible, day and night.
9. Build up your resistance by dressing lightly, exposing yourself to cold—living in cold rooms—the reverse to coddling yourself. (This applies to children and adults up to the age of 60 years.) Old men and women must lead more sheltered lives.
10. Have yourself examined from time to time to discover latent or semi-latent disease.

"What are the conditions of the human body which make it easy to catch consumption?" asks the bulletin. "That is a question about which we know little, and about which we can say little in an affirmative way. There are, however, certain negative things which should be said, viz.: A man is susceptible to disease if he is liable to 'catch' it when brought in contact with the germ of that disease. A man is immune when he can come in contact with the germ of a disease and not 'catch' the disease.

"With respect to consumption we know little. For instance, a physical giant coming down with consumption is not a rare sight. Good robust health does not prevent it. Invalids are no more susceptible to it than other people.

"Being 'weak' and 'run down' does not predispose to consumption. The man who is 'weak' and 'run down', I think that debilitated consumption is in that debilitated condition because of his consumption—the consumption is not the result of his condition.

"Consumption is not inherited. The little tendency to it which may be inherited is so slight that it may be easily overcome. Probably we inherit more of poor chest capacity—tendency to pigeon breast—than we do of consumption. Right living should easily overcome that."

Associations for the prevention of tuberculosis have been formed in Cuba, Porto Rico and Trinidad, says the bulletin. In Denmark the campaign against the plague has been carried on systematically since 1895. —[Chicago Inter Ocean.

CIGARETTES AND THEIR YEARLY CONSUMPTION

In the calendar year 1910, 8,644,537,090 cigarettes were made and sold in the United States. A cigarette, in one way, resembles a street car transfer slip. It is not always used. But the number of unsmoked cigarettes, in comparison with the number made and sold, is negligible. This nation of ninety odd millions is, indeed, a nation of cigarette smokers. Nearly 100 cigarettes are produced and distributed here every year for every man, woman and child in the country. This does not include imported cigarettes, and those rolled by the smokers themselves. Imports of cigarettes are large, but, of course, they amount to but little in proportion to the output of American factories.

The United States Tobacco Journal, which has compiled and prints the statistics of the year in the trade

It serves, remarks that the enormous increase in 1910 over the number of cigarettes smoked in 1909, an increase of 1,856,487,308, was in spite of an increase in the revenue stamp tax of 71 cents, and a widespread movement against cigarette smoking throughout the country. Denunciation of the cigarette as a "coffin nail," and a passport to perdition, seems to increase its popularity.

Yet the consumption of tobacco in other forms does not increase, except in the case of tiny cigars, the output of which fell off 49,383,526 last year, perhaps because of increased prices due to the stamp tax. Nearly 150,000,000 more large cigars were produced, and nearly 15,000,000 more pounds of manufactured tobacco. The American people are assuredly not turning away from tobacco, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. —[New York Times.

THE OPPRESSIVE PART OF NEWSPAPER WORK

Nearly every newspaper editor will agree that Editor Desha Breckenridge was very right when he said the following in the Lexington Herald the other day:

There is a phase of newspaper work which sometimes oppresses us. It was epitomized in a striking dissertation by Hon. Edward P. Farrell, who had a brilliant career as lawyer and newspaper man. To summarize his conclusions, reached as a result of his experience, he said that a newspaper might praise every member of a man's family, publish every notice of every entertainment which his wife or daughters gave or to which they were invited; describe their gowns as the latest creations of Worth and their forms as the perfection of the handwork of the Most High; suppress the mention of any disagreeable incident in the life of any member of the family, even unto the third or fourth generation; give the men credit for brilliancy and high purposes, and never a word of appreciation. Then some morning publish a two-line item that a third cousin, twice removed, who had been a drunkard and a loafer for years, had been arrested and indicted, and every member of the family would get mad and the head of the family stop his paper. A little exaggerated, but only a little, is this comment of that versatile and brilliant man.

ARCH O'FLAHERTY JUMPS FROM HOSPITAL WINDOW

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 28.—Arch O'Flaherty, a linotype operator and an inmate of St. Mary's hospital, where he has been suffering with pneumonia, jumped for the second time in the past few days, from a second-story window in the hospital, to the ground. In neither case was the man injured.

O'Flaherty has been confined at the hospital for some time and at the time he committed his daring jump, was in a delirious condition and was clad only in a night shirt. The first attempt that he made to jump from the window was very thrilling, as he walked along a narrow gutter for a distance of about thirty feet and then jumped several feet from the building, alighting in the top of a small tree that was growing some distance from the building.

O'Flaherty was at one time a resident of Hartford, where he lived with his father's family. Later he went to Owensboro and it was while a resident of that city that he married a daughter of Mr. John Bennett, a tobaccoist. O'Flaherty is now thirty-six years of age and his home is in Louisville.

Tobacco Warehouse Burned.

Leitchfield, Ky., Feb. 28.—The large tobacco warehouse at this place operated by Ed F. Wallace, with all its contents, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The fire is believed to be the work of an incendiary. Over 100,000 pounds of tobacco were destroyed. The loss is estimated at between $7,000 and $9,000. The building was owned by James G. Moorman.

Fully nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism is simply rheumatism of the muscles due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment. All that is needed to afford relief is the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. Give it a trial. You are certain to be pleased with the quick relief which it affords. Sold by all dealers.

LORIMER KEEPS SEAT IN SENATE

"Blonde Boss" Wins by Vote of 46 to 40:

A SCENE OF TENSE INTEREST

Crowded Galleries Received Announcement of Result With Applause.

"THE RESOLUTION IS LOST"

Washington, March 1.—The senate today, by a vote of 46 to 40, sustained William Lorimer's title to a seat for the State of Illinois, defeating the resolution of Senator Beveridge declaring him not legally elected a member of the Senate.

Senator Lorimer was not present and did not vote because of his interest in the case, and Senator Tallaferra was at his seat, but did not respond to his name. The vote of Senator Cullom, Mr. Lorimer's colleague from Illinois, was awaited with great interest. Both sides had claimed him. He voted for Lorimer.

While no pairs were announced, Senator Aldrich was paired on other questions with Senator Terrell, both being absent on account of illness. Senator Tallaferra's silence may signify a pair with Senator Frazier, who was absent on account of the death of his mother. Mr. Tallaferra has been understood to be pro-Lorimer.

There is one vacancy, caused by the death of Mr. Hughes, of Colorado, leaving the present voting strength of the Senate 31, and 46 a quorum. Mr. Lorimer got a majority of the sitting members.

The position of Senators Frazier and Terrell, who were absent, was announced as both anti-Lorimer.

There is a general understanding that Senator Aldrich would have favored Lorimer. Nothing was stated on the floor regarding his attitude.

The scene when the vote was taken was one of the most intense but suppressed excitement. Not until Senator Wetmore, next to the last name on the list, had voted, was the forty-six pro-Lorimer total complete. The result had been expected, but everybody waited breathlessly for the announcement. It was received with applause from the galleries, but as usual, this was quickly suppressed by the presiding officer.

"The resolution is lost," announced the Vice President, and instantly the Senate was in confusion, people leaving the galleries and the floor. It was some minutes before the Senate could resume its proceedings.

Hartford, Ky., Feb. 28, 1911.

Col. Edwin Forbes, Fordville, Ky.

Dear Friend—I write to thank you very much for the old family relic 3-cent piece, a recent history of which has been given through the press by yourself, and which was once made a present by my dear old mother to your dear sister, Miss Mary Forbes, both having passed through the "golden gates" many years ago to a better land. Also I acknowledge receipt of the Mexican huton, a war relic, and have placed each side by side in a place of safety, as keepsakes which were cared for by Col. Ed Forbes, my old friend, for nearly 60 years till now. If my family can act as custodian that length of time, they that live to see it should be as proud no doubt as you. My family join me in regards to you. Again thanking you for past favors, I am most respectfully (a son of E. M. Ford) your old friend,

HOW PATI SANG—A WORD-MEANING STUDY

Lafcadio Hearn had a rare faculty for discerning a word's shades of meaning, and one of his keenest pleasures was, by taking advantage of every subtle suggestion in a phrase, to produce a vivid effect in a minimum of words. "For me," he writes in the lately published "Japanese Letters of Lafcadio Hearn," "words have color, form, character. They have faces, ports, manners, gesticulations—they have moods, humors, eccentricities; they have tints, tones, personalities." A good instance of this power appears in a description of Pati's singing: "There was a great dim pressure, a stifling heat, a whispering of silks, a weight of toilet perfumes. Then came an awful hush; all the silks stopped whispering. And there suddenly sweetened out through that dead hot air a clear, cool, tense thread-gust of melody unlike any sound I ever heard before save—in tropical nights—from the throat of a mockingbird. It was 'Auld Lang Syne' only—but with never a tremolo or artifice—a marvelous, sudacious simplicity of utterance."

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 8

The marrow in Winter's backbone seems yet to be intact.

By their almost unanimous support of the reciprocity agreement in the House, the Democrats in Congress put themselves on record as being in favor of the best interests of the whole country.

By all means there should be a State Democratic Convention or some sort of gathering to formulate a platform upon which candidates may run. Political platforms are sometimes considered unimportant, but they at least serve to enunciate current party principles.

President Taft has defied the "old guard" of his party and called an extra session of Congress in order to reconsider the Canadian reciprocity program which was muddled and disregarded by the recent Senate. In this laudable enterprise he will have the aid and co-operation of the Democrats in Congress and also the progressive Republicans. It promises to be a very remarkable session.

If it could once be gotten into the heads of all property owners that every public improvement adds to the value and selling price of all personal holdings, the country would certainly flourish in a more decided manner than at present. It takes personal enterprise to make a municipality grow—the kind that reaches out and takes in all worthy efforts of improvement. The public spirited citizen is nearly always the most successful one in a financial way.

The Democratic State Executive Committee, in session at Louisville Friday, set the date of the State primary for Saturday, July 1, which was a very good move and will no doubt be acceptable to all Democrats. It gives plenty of time for canvass of the State by candidates, even if some should yet enter. Interest in party matters should now be taken by all Democrats, that good men be selected for office, thus paving the way for a rousing victory in November.

The new Congress which is to assemble in extra session on April 4 will present an entirely different political phase from the one just adjourned. The House will be Democratic by a large majority and many old-line Republicans will be absent. The Senate will be Republican by only ten, and progressive Republicans of both branches will vote with the Democrats on important occasions. It will no doubt be one of the most memorable and history-making sessions ever held in the history of the body.

At last it seems to have been Ben Johnson who saved the day for a primary in the meeting of the State Democratic Committee at Louisville Friday. On behalf of his friend, Olie James, he wired Committeeman Spaulding that a primary seemed the only alternative. This was not done in the interest of McCreary, nor yet was it a back-down from Mr. Johnson's well known position in the matter, but for the sake of party harmony and to expedite party matters to the best interest of all concerned. Mr. Johnson is not only a good Democrat, but he has a level head.

The last Republican primary election in Ohio county was as rotten an affair as was ever pulled off by any political party anywhere. This was generally admitted, many well known Republicans joining in condemnation of the affair. Yet the Hartford Republican swallowed the whole rotten business without the squint of an eyelid and immediately entered into support of the nominees. Now it criticizes The Herald for advising Democrats to support the nominees of our party. We leave it to the public—is it capable of advising Democrats how to run their affairs?

Senator Bailey, of Texas, Saturday, in a fit of temper resigned his position in Congress, because, he said, some of his Democratic colleagues were not in accord with his leadership in certain matters of legislation. A few hours later he reconsidered his rash action and took it all back. Mr. Bailey has done this sort of thing several times since he has been in Congress. He is a brnny and a brilliant man, one of the noblest members of Congress on either side, but he seems to be possessed of a passionate temperament that sometimes leads him into very rash and inconsiderate actions.

The firm of Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago, last week declared a 3 1/2 per cent. dividend on its capital stock. This is one of the big mail-order houses that sell everything under the sun and monopolize a large amount of the country merchant's legitimate business. They, like other big mail-order houses, only succeed in doing this by copious and continuous advertising. They are known wherever there is a post-office. There is a lesson in their method of doing business to every person who has anything to sell—not in their low prices for usually "cheap" goods, but in their persistent advertising.

The Hartford Republican failed to offer proof and claim reward of good clears all around and a present for the baby, offered by The Herald last week for a glimpse of a single issue of its paper wherein it ever failed to swallow any old nomination rammed into its mouth by party bosses. Of course all nominations of the Republican party are always acceptable—according to the Hartford organ. It is the Democratic party that might make a mistake and nominate the wrong man—as per the same sagacious authority. We want the Republican to show us one instance where it ever bolted one of the several nauseous dishes offered it, before we will believe it is sincere in its assumption that it will ever do so.

SUBSTITUTED TYPE "C" FOR TYPE "A" IN ENGINE MATTER

Parndise, Ky., March 3, 1911.
Editors Herald, Dear Sirs:—Mr. Felix requested me to tell him what the committee did in regard to the gasoline traction engine. I forgot the request until I had left town, so give you this. In the first place we contracted for a 20-horse power type "A" engine in January last for $1,450 f. o. b. nt Chicago. Some time back, Mr. Hannett, the agent for the International Harvester Co., at Evansville, Ind., wrote me that they had a 20-horse power type "C" there at Evansville that had been used some, but was practically a new engine and he thought it would suit us better than the one we had bought, and that he would pay the expense of the committee if we would come and look at the engine. So after consulting Judge Taylor and some of the Magistrates, Mr. Walter Knott, of Centertown, and myself went to Evansville and saw the engine. We found it to be much stouter and ns we thought, better for road work than the one we had contracted for. We advised the committee to make the exchange. The committee on last Thursday morning met Mr. Tinsley, the agent for the International Harvester Co. at Hartford, and made the exchange. So we will get a 20-horse power type "C" instead of a 20-horse power type "A" and will save one hundred dollars or more in freight and on the price of the engine. The engine that we will get cost, at Evansville, f. o. b. $1,400. Respectfully,
J. H. MILES.

POPULAR VOTE WAS DEFEATED IN SENATE

Washington, March 3.—The Senate defeated the resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution so as to provide that Senators be elected by direct vote of the people. A brave fight had been made by the supporters of the measure, as was indicated by the vote. Fifty-four Senators stood for the resolution and thirty-three against it.

Though this division showed so large a majority of the Senate to favor popular elections, the number was not sufficient by four to carry the measure, which required a two-thirds vote for its success.

BEN JOHNSON CALLED THE LOBBYIST DOWN

In Scathing Terms, for Offering to Line Up Catholic Vote.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Representative Ben Johnson arose in the House to-day and denounced E. E. Scharf, a lobbyist, who, he said, had improperly approached him, Scharf, he said, represented to Johnson that for a pecuniary consideration, he (Scharf) would get the 4,000 Catholics in Johnson's district for Johnson.

"Every Catholic and every Knight of Columbus will appreciate the exposure of this Catholic for revenue only," said Johnson.

Mr. Johnson said that when he came to Congress several years ago Scharf, who is manager of what is termed "The Catholic News Agency," asked the Kentuckian to call at his office. Mr. Johnson went and was informed, he said, that there were 4,000 Catholic votes in the Bardstown district, all of which Scharf said he could deliver for a consideration.

"I knew that he lied, that he could do no such a thing, because I am a Catholic and a Knight of Columbus," said Mr. Johnson, who did not detail what he said to Dr. Scharf. Mr. Johnson ended by denouncing Scharf, who is a lobbyist in District of Columbia matters here, for disgracing Catholicism and the fraternal order to which both he and Mr. Johnson belong.

Mr. Johnson secured unanimous consent to make his statement, while there was pending a bill in which Scharf was interested. About a week and a half ago Scharf entered Mr. Johnson's office with a paper, which the Kentuckian refused to sign. Scharf persisted, and finally Johnson ordered the lobbyist out of his office, saying:

"You are not straight."
To-day's developments were the next steps in the matter. Mr. Johnson's remarks created a sensation.

POORHOUSE KEEPER IS SUED FOR $2,500

The Owensboro Messenger says: James Corley, an inmate of the county poorhouse and now in his 79th year, has filed suit against Frank Vessels, keeper or commissioner of the county poorhouse for $2,500 for cruel and inhuman treatment that resulted in the damage to the plaintiff in the sum for which he asks judgment.

Corley states that he is an inmate of the poorhouse and that he is dependent on the county for his support and maintenance and that Vessels is the keeper of the poorhouse. He claims that on or about the 15th day of February, Vessels entered his room at the poor farm and violently, unlawfully, wrongfully and maliciously assaulted, beat and bruised him about the head and body and knocked him down by striking him on the head with a chair.

The plaintiff states that he is an old man and that he is nearly blind and that by reason of the wrongful and malicious assault he was damaged in the sum of $2,500.

BANK DIRECTORS ARE HELD RESPONSIBLE

Frankfort, Ky., March 3.—Discovering that Section 528 of the Kentucky Statutes places the entire responsibility for the condition of banks upon the directors, Secretary of State Bruner has decided to hold all State bank directors responsible for the condition of the banks in the future.

This section of the Statute is as follows:

"If any director or directors of any bank shall knowingly violate or permit any officer or employee of the bank to violate any of the provisions of the laws relating to banks, the directors so offending shall be jointly and severally individually liable to the creditors and stockholders for any loss or damage resulting from this violation, and if any such losses or damages be not made good within a reasonable time, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of State, with consent of the Attorney General to institute proceedings as may be necessary to forfeit the charter of such bank."

BANK AFFAIRS GETTING PUT INTO GOOD SHAPE

The attorneys for the Fordville Banking Co., Messrs. Heavrin & Woodward, were questioned by us as to the prospect for depositors in that institution. They each state that the depositors can safely count on 75c to the dollar, but that they will have to wait, as it is impossible to realize on a bank's notes and mortgages at once. These gentlemen are hopeful that the depositors will be paid in full, but say that a loss of 25 per cent. to the depositors will be the limit of loss.

Dr. J. W. McCarty, the assignee, knows all the bank's patrons and is rapidly converting its assets into cash for the purpose of paying a dividend.

The appraisal of the assets of the Fordville Banking Company follows:

Fordville, Ky., March 2, 1911.

We, the undersigned appraisers of the assigned estate of the Fordville Banking Company, being first duly sworn, do certify that we have appraised all notes when taken together at the sum of $30,000.00 and we appraise the overdrafts at $800.00. We also appraise the banking house and lot, together with the other real estate owned by said bank, at $3,350.00. And we appraise the furniture and fixtures, including two safes, at $1,200.00. Cash and cash items, $1,141.64 of which $696.31 is on deposit with the Bank of Fordville, of Fordville, Ky. And we appraise the stock owned by said bank at $1,147.64 of which $696.31 is on taken together amount to $44,129.64 and which sum we have charged to the assignee.

INCREASE SHOWN IN KENTUCKY COUNTIES

Frankfort, Ky., March 4.—Assessments of property in all counties in the State, as compared with the reports made by County Assessors last year, will show an increase of about $50,000,000 and the prospects are that the State Board of Equalization, which has begun its work, will add to the already large increase. The counties which have reported thus far show an increase over last year of $35,000,000, in round numbers, and a great many of the counties have not made reports. It is expected that the counties not heard from will increase that total.

The State Board will be in session daily from now until its work of equalizing the assessments is completed, which must be by June 1. Tentative assessments will be made first and then the final assessments. It is believed that there will be no big increases by the board this year as there were last year.

SPANKED HIS WIFE WHEN SHE SUED HIM

For Divorce—New Remedy for One of the Great Matrimonial Evils.

Evansville, Ind., March 4.—"I don't need a lawyer to fight a divorce case," said Frank Kuebler to-day, when told that his wife had sued him.

Kuebler is a wealthy farmer and an educated man. He believes in the adage, that a woman should work, however, with the result that his wife sued and charged cruel treatment.

As soon as he was informed of the suit he drove home and there faced his wife. He took her across his lap and spanked her with a slipper, according to her statements to the neighbors. This occurred early this afternoon. About 4:30 o'clock, Kuebler and his wife came to her lawyer's office here, and she directed the attorney to immediately dismiss the suit for divorce. "D— you lawyers anyhow," said Kuebler. "My wife didn't want a divorce and I soon showed her she didn't."

time. Mrs. Evans was 24 years of age and is survived by her husband. She was a well known and popular young woman, being a member of several clubs, also of the Whitesville Baptist church.

FIXED A TRAP—CAUGHT HIMSELF AND KILLED

Point Isabel, Tex., March 4.—I. Bemetes, 62 years old, fixed a double-barrel shotgun at the door of his store, so that it would discharge itself, as a defense against thieves who had been robbing him, and forgetting his device, opened the door and received a full load of buckshot in his shoulder. He died in 10 minutes.

Hundred Thousand Bibles Ordered.

New York, March 3.—One hundred thousand Bibles have been ordered for general distribution by the Bibles, as the members of the Christian Travelers' Association of America style themselves.

Notice to Creditors.

Creditors of the Ohio County Bank will please come forward and settle their indebtedness. It is my purpose and the desire of everybody connected with the bank to have dividends declared to the depositors as speedily as possible. This cannot be done unless creditors of the bank will assist by meeting their obligations.

BASKET BALL GAMES PLAYED

Between Hartford and Beaver Dam Teams

BROUGHT OUT A GREAT CROWD

A Disgraceful Egg-Throwing Episode Spoiled Pleasure of the Event.

BEAVER DAM TEAMS WINNERS

The first and second basket ball teams of Beaver Dam Seminary played the first and second basket ball teams of Hartford College at Dr. Bean's Opera House here last Saturday night, in the presence of a large crowd of spectators. The Beaver Dam boys were accompanied by many friends, about half of whom were ladies. It was a most interesting game and highly enjoyed by all who witnessed it. Along at the start the Hartford boys "held their own" in good style, but it soon became apparent that they were out-generated and outclassed by the visiting boys, who evidently had been well trained and were equipped with the experience of much practice.

The rule of the game was to play twenty minutes and rest ten minutes. The second teams played first and the result of this was 5 to 20 in favor of Beaver Dam. The first teams then came into action and the Hartford boys were the victors by a score of 9 to 8. The second teams then played their second half, in which the Beaver Dam boys beat the Hartford College boys, 13 to 8. The first teams then returned to the contest with their second half of the game, which ended with the score of 2 to 13 in favor of the visitors. The grand total was 33 to 13 in favor of Beaver Dam, second teams, and 21 to 11, first teams, with the visitors the victors. Referee, Mr. Jack Keeley, of Hartford; umpire, Prof. Oscar Shultz, of Beaver Dam; timekeeper, Col. C. M. Barnett; scorekeeper, J. C. Barnard, both of Hartford.

The line-up was as follows: Beaver Dam First Team—F. Shultz, J. C. Taylor, E. R. Taylor, N. Renter, T. Rogers.

Hartford First Team—H. J. Glenn, J. D. Ford, H. F. Felix, W. R. Hatcher, D. D. Moseley.

Beaver Dam Second Team—M. Taylor, A. Davis, M. Barnes, W. Gardner, C. Maddox.

Hartford Second Team—E. L. Barnett, R. Taylor, C. King, W. Moore, J. Felix.

The utmost good will prevailed throughout the games and everything passed off smoothly, with the usual applause and cheering for both sides at successful goals made.

But after the close of the games and while the visitors and others were gathered near the front of the Opera House, awaiting the arrival of the wagons to take the Beaver Dam folks back home, a most disgraceful and outrageous act was committed in the throwing of eggs, several of which struck the Beaver Dam boys, one young lady in the crowd being badly entangled. It was an outrage upon decency and an act for which, while it was done in Hartford and evidently by residents of the place, yet the good people of the town feel that our village as a whole, nor the Hartford College basket ball team as a part of it, should not be held in any way responsible. The citizens of the town were quick to take the matter up and the first thing Monday morning was the summoning of different persons to appear at a court of inquiry which was held at the office of Police Judge C. M. Crowe.

Out of the mass of testimony adduced, little of which seemed to be convicting, the matter was finally hemmed down as to who bought the eggs. A direct question to one of the proprietors of the City Restaurant by Marshal Sam F. Riley brought forth the reply that a certain young man with two others, had paid for a dozen eggs at his store soon after the basket ball games were over. At the close of the testimony, Lewis Riley, a young man of Hartford, confessed to Police Judge Crowe and City Attorney Likens that he was one of the three young men suspected. The other two being Raymond Phillips and Herbert King.

Young Riley said he bought a dozen eggs for the purpose of throwing them and divided them equally between himself and his companions, Messrs. Phillips and King. Riley said, however, that his nerve failed him when he arrived on the scene of the throwing and he did not throw a single egg. He confessed judgment and a fine of $2.50 and cost, under a charge of breach of the peace assessed against him.

Young Charley Carpenter came to Judge Crowe privately and testified that he had been sent by Raymond Phillips to purchase a dozen eggs, which he did, and delivered them in a sack to Phillips, near the scene of the throwing. According to the testimony, this purchase was made before young Riley came upon the scene. Warrants are out for Messrs. Phillips and King, who have not yet been apprehended. They will be tried by a jury when caught and if convicted, the fine will be anywhere from one cent to $100. It is quite likely that the guilty parties will be given the full limit of the law.

Nothing has ever happened in Hartford that created more genuine regret and indignation than this egg-throwing episode. Our people feel that it was an outrage upon Hartford as well as upon the good people of Beaver Dam, who conducted themselves in the most ladylike and gentlemanly manner while here. At no place was this indignation felt more keenly than in the management and student body of Hartford College. Upholding and responding to this spirit of regret and outrage, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted at a meeting held in Hartford College Monday:

Whereas, After the closing of a game of basket ball between the Hartford and Beaver Dam teams on last Saturday night, March 4, 1911, occurred the most disgraceful, shameful and cowardly act in the history of the quiet town of Hartford—that of throwing eggs into a crowd of Beaver Dam citizens who came over to witness the game, therefore,

We, the faculty, the members of the basket ball teams and the student body of Hartford College, desire to say to the public, that we most emphatically condemn such acts as products of the most vile, wicked and diabolical spirit. And we further say, we most cheerfully offer our services in bringing to justice such characters, at which tribune we hope these violators of decency and good order may receive the full punishment of the law.

Submitted with the names of the committee appointed.

 Member of the Faculty.

P. J. McMillan Dead.

Mr. P. J. McMillan, a brother of Edris S. McMillan, of Centertown, this county, died at his residence in Ashton, Ill., on Monday last week of blood poison caused by a scratch on his hand about two weeks before while handling freight at the station where he had been agent for more than ten years. After funeral services by his pastor, Rev. English, whose text was, "Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord," Romans 12:11, the remains were taken in charge by Ashton Lodge No. 531, P. & A. M. of which the deceased was a member, and placed in the receiving vault at the cemetery and later arrangements will be made for permanent burial beside the remains of his wife at Lake Benton, Minnesota.

A column and a half of space in the Ashton Gazette attests the high esteem in which the deceased was held in his community. The deceased was a son of William M. and Anna E. McMillan, of Auburn, Ky., and was born December 21, 1869.

SAYS MAN IS THE WEAKER VESSEL

While Woman Keeps Him Steady Company.

BEHOLD FOOLISHNESS OF BOTH

And Judge Thou, Oh, Daughter of the Present Generation!

THE SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

I charge thee, my daughter, be not deceived by false prophecies; for lo, not every gossip weareth a petticoat, neither doth a derby hat always cover a multitude of brains.

Now I found myself in a company of women, where many damsels were gathered together drinking tea. And, behold, each damsel talked of HERSELF, saying, "I did this and so," and "I would wear this and that," and "This is MY opinion."

Yea, each discussed her OWN ways and boasted much of her OWN conquests. And I was exceedingly BORED.

And, again, I found myself in a company of men, where many youths were gathered together, drinking soda (and other things). And I was hidden behind an arras.

And lo, the air was filled with smoke and gossip and bragadocio. Yea, they talked, one and all, of their acquaintances, and what they did NOT say is not worth mentioning.

Of many damsels chatted they, and revealed the ways of their flirtations, comparing notes concerning this one and that, and saying: "SHE thought she hath me on the string," and "I was NOT bored."

Yet, again, I found myself in a mixed company of youths and maidens. And each man talked of HIMSELF.

But the damsels talked not, but cheered them on, crying: "How clever," and "I think so, too!" and "Isn't he killing!" And all were much pleased with themselves and the way in which they "WORKED" each other.

Now, I visited a woman's club, thinking to hear much nonsense. Yet, I found them discussing "Art," and "The higher self," and the "Sub-conscious ego," and similar uncomfortable things. Yea, the air was heavy with intellectualty, and psychology and brain-jag.

And I secreted myself thereafter in a man's club, thinking to hear wisdom, but all their talk was of "penches," and "queens," and "four-fushes," and poker games, and how to mix a cocktail, and how to play a "system." And the air was stale with pointless "jokes," and scandal, and "stories." Then I said in my heart:

"How is this?" For all my life have I regarded woman as a walking newspaper that went about TELLING things.

Yet, behold, I find that it is not women, but MAN, who is the weaker vessel, filled with gossip.—[Chicago Journal].

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are safe, sure and reliable, and have been praised by thousands of women who have been restored to health through their gentle aid and curative properties. Sold by all dealers.

MODERN FARM METHODS AND THE AUTOMOBILE

Manufacturers of automobiles assert that the farmer and the resident of the smaller cities will be the largest purchasers of motor cars from now on. Attention has heretofore been paid chiefly to the big cities, but with the development of the industry and the increase in interest on the part of the communities away from the big centers, chief place is now being given to them.

The farmer has learned that he can use the auto to advantage and that, like the telephone and rural free delivery, it makes life on the farm worth living. The professional man, contractor and suburban dweller have all discovered that the automobile enables them to have more time for business and home, and are therefore using it in greater numbers.

The varied uses of the motor car will be displayed to advantage at the Louisville Automobile Show, which will be held at the First Regiment Armory in Louisville, March 15-18. Interest in the show is general, and the attendance is expected to set a new record. Gasoline and electric passenger and freight-carrying cars will be shown, and everybody will be able to find the automobile exactly suited to his requirements.

FIVE HUNDRED CHINESE OUTLAWS BURNED ALIVE

Refugees Made Desperate by Hunger—Hacked Prisoners to Death.

Victoria, B. C., March 4.—Rendered desperate by hunger, bands of hundreds of starving refugees are roving through the famine-stricken area of China, plundering and killing and a reign of terror prevails, according to persons who arrived here on the steamer Tamba, which reached port from the Orient to-day.

At Kunshan, a walled village within fifty miles of Shanghai, the villagers, after a desperate raid, in which stores were looted and many killed, meted out punishment peculiarly Chinese in its callousness to the raiding refugees. A band of more than 500 is reported to have been surrounded in a compound and burned to death. The refugees had taken possession of Kunshan and for two days ransacked the stores of everything eatable, killing or wounding all who resisted.

Many villagers were slain and others were taken prisoners and held for ransom. When the raiders moved on to plunder the next village, the Kunshan people held a council of war and offered to pursue the fugitives. They came up with them in a small village and surrounded the houses. The gates were locked and the houses fired. More than 500 perished.

The refugees brought five prisoners into the compound in view of the soldiers and threatened to kill them unless the siege was raised, and on the villagers' pressing them back to the burning buildings, they slowly hacked the five men to death. Three other prisoners were tied to stakes in the burning buildings and were burned with their captors.

Not Many of Them Left.
Mary Duncan, 76 years old, one of the few surviving Shakers at Shakerstown, Mercer county, died last week. Only twelve of this colony are now living. Last summer a deed of trust was given by the Shakers to George Bohon, of Harrodsburg, giving the property into his care until the death of the surviving members. Three have died since, and it is estimated the colony will be extinct in two years. All the survivors are more than 75 years old.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION.

Much Sickness is Due To Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rehall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rehall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store—James H. Williams, 214 Main St.

A SCHEME FOR GOOD SCHOOLS

As Seen by An Educational Advocate.

SHOULD BE WELL ARRANGED

So As to Arouse and Develop the Highest Talent of the Student.

CARRYING ON OF GOD'S WORK

Mr. John B. McFerran, of Isle Moraja, Fla., writing to the Louisville Courier-Journal upon "Rural Educational Reform in Kentucky," says:

You know the deplorable rural educational conditions in Kentucky as well as I do, therefore it is not necessary to enlarge upon them here. The necessity for comprehensively remedying them is urgent and insistent. It is easily the first and most important question to be taken up and pressed to a solution as rapidly as human action can cope with the conditions. A complete revolution in the system for the rural school must be devised and put into a process of operation.

I venture to outline the scheme that I have thought out as best I can for your consideration. We ought to have the State system so organized by counties that a boy or girl in the remotest districts would have a clear way to reach his or her highest capacity. The most elemental schoolhouse grounds and equipment ought to represent a sane and reasonable practical plan suited to the object intended—play grounds, school garden, a reasonable amount of elemental agricultural training, with manual training for the boy and domestic science for the girls. There will always be some small schools, but the small schools ought to have within their limitations as good attention and care as the larger ones. There will then be needed an additional step, say some intermediate schools of three to four rooms. Then we should have in each educational division of the county one large consolidated school carrying all the grades, and also a three to four High School course. The Government has made provision to aid the establishment in each State congressional district of an agricultural High School and the State has provided a State Agricultural College.

Now these schools should be arranged so that a pupil may have a straight, clear path to attain the best that is in him, and wherever the scholar fails out before attaining the full course, as a large majority of them will do, the schools ought to be of such quality that he or she may have taken full advantage of their capacity up to that point.

Then we shall have removed the last vestige of the stigma that rests upon educational Kentucky, and the old State will be ready to move on her way proudly, the peer of any of her sister States in every way. It will be said that this will cost money, and so it will, as all good things are costly, but it will be a magnificent investment and will return many hundredfold the cost, even in dollars and cents, to say nothing of other numerous and better returns. This way lies prosperity, peace and happiness. It cannot all be done at once. The first and serious difficulty is financial. To proceed in this way the proper plans must be provided.

The only and best way to meet this difficulty is to get legislative authority for the counties to bond themselves for the purpose of building these plants. A long bond is better; it will bring the best price and find a ready market. The children who receive these benefits can carry their part of the burden. The plants, if well constructed, we should have for use for many years. It is democratic in the highest and best sense, all for all, instead of each for himself and the devil take the hindmost. When we once have the proper plans we can turn to the teaching force. It is next to impossible to get worthy teachers, who are not angels in embryo, to go into the schools we call schoolhouses in the country, for the simple reason that they can easily find more agreeable billets and usually at better pay.

There should be a further change in the school law. At present I think the State Board of Education is made up of the Governor, the Attorney General and possibly one other officer of the administration, and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Now this board is entirely too small, and has too many other important duties to perform. The number of the board ought to be increased to a dozen or twenty, and the new members should be of our most intelligent educators, and a sharp sprinkle of broadminded, intelligent laymen chosen from different sections of the State.

The office of the State Superintendent of Education is especially now the most important one in the State, and should be filled with the utmost care. He should be chosen by the Board of Education for an indefinite term and should receive a salary of not less than $5,000, and $2,500 as an expense fund. He cannot possibly attend properly to his duties sitting in his office at Frankfort. Does a railroad superintendent or the head of any big plant or business sit always in his office. Of course not. It is absolute folly to expect best results in this way. Then the elected by the County Board of Education for an indeterminate term, and he should have a salary that will command abilities for the place, and should have office expenses provided that would enable him to go about and attend to his business, which is to see that the schools are conducted in a manner whereby the children may have the best results from the large sums of money provided in their behalf.

This is not only a patriotic work, but it is God's work. Why did He endow these children with intellects, the expanding of which offers almost limitless possibilities? Why did He intrust them to us if He does not expect us to do our duty by them in seeing, so far as in us lies, that they have the best opportunities? I submit this in behalf of the hundreds of thousands of helpless children of old Kentucky.

WHAT YEAR IS THIS? HAD YOU THOUGHT OF IT?

Most of us would suppose that one thing that we knew perfectly well was what year this is. Barring, of course, the first week or two, when we still wrote it 1910. Not everybody in the world or even in this polyglot country of ours would admit that to say this is the year 1911 is entirely correct. This is, to those who reckon by the Byzantine methods, the year 7419. According to the Julian calendar it is the year 6624. In the Jewish era it will be, until the 22d of September, the year 5672. The ancient Romans would have figured it to be the year 2664, the ancient Greeks the year 2687, or the third year of the six hundred and seventy-second Olympiad. The Mohammedan considers that the year 1329 began on January 2, while the Japanese calls it the year 2571, and the Chinese the year 4509. At Washington it is still reckoned as the one hundred and thirty-fifth year of American independence, and as such all official pronouncements are dated. —[Fall River News.

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. R. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at James H. Williams.

PIECE OF WALNUT HULL COMES THROUGH SIDE

Marrowbone, Ky., March 2.—While eating walnuts some five or six years ago, Clarence Pace, a 16-year-old boy of this place, accidentally swallowed a large, sharp-edged piece of a walnut hull. In a few days thereafter his stomach became sore and swollen and later this condition extended to his left side. Since then the boy has been in a precarious condition, and last week the piece of walnut hull came out from his side. However, the boy is still in a very serious condition, and in company with a physician has gone to Nashville, where he will undergo an operation.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM.

The hats that year were small like griddle cakes,
The sleeves bulged out like flighty toy balloons,
The skirts were trimmed with braid that writhed like snakes,
And the buttons were the size of macaroons.
So she bought the entire outfit at the store
Whereat her husband, with superior smile,
Reviewed his darling's latest wardrobe o'er
And murmured, "Ghost of Barnum! What a style!"

Next year the hats shot heavenward in towers,
The sleeves at elbow drooped like empty sacks,
The skirts so long they fell in silken showers,
Wiped up the floors—thus saving time and wax.
So she called upon the modiste and she bought
The latest crease. And when her husband saw
His Only thus attired, he stood in thought
And muttered, "It's the limit of the law!"

Next came the Merry Widow hats, so wide
You couldn't get a lady through a door.
The back-hook dress came with it, all supplied
With seven-hillion-trillion hooks or more.
So she got the proper thing and paid the bill;
But as the husband struggled with the hooks
He grunted in a manner harsh and chill,
"This may be style, but heavens! how it looks!"

Next came the hobble skirt and thimble hat,
Thus women walked, the halt, the lame, the blind,
But she of whom I write her foot down sat.
"This shock I'll spare poor husband and be kind."
So she didn't buy this outfit at the store,
And lo! His Lordship in a little while
Spoke in a vein he'd never used before,
"Dear, why not keep a little more in style?" —[Life.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS

Come to Hundreds of Hartford People.

There are days of dizziness;
Spells of headache, sideache, backache;
Sometimes rheumatic pains;
Often urinary disorders.
All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick.

Dean's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Can Hartford residents doubt this statement?

Morgan Hulsey, Elizabeth and First streets, Owensboro, Ky., says: "I had a severe attack of kidney trouble and was annoyed by too frequent and painful passages of the kidney secretions. I often had headaches and dizzy spells and I felt depressed nearly all the time. I finally read about Doan's Kidney Pills and procuring a box, I began their use. The contents of one box of this remedy disposed of the lameness in my back and restored my kidneys to a normal condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Stomach Troubles Cured by Vinol

"I suffered so long from stomach trouble and indigestion, that I lost flesh rapidly — VINOL cured me after everything else had failed. It strengthened my digestive organs—gave me a hearty appetite, and I can eat anything without the slightest distress. I do not believe anything equals VINOL for stomach trouble and indigestion."

W. E. WATERHOUSE, Portland, Me.

Mr. Thos. G. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., writes, "I suffered for years from a chronic stomach trouble. VINOL entirely cured me after everything else had failed."

It is the curative medicinal elements of the cod's liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL, which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion, and at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Try a bottle of VINOL with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

BURR AND HAMILTON AFFAIR

In Which Burr Was the Victor
But Politically Vanquished.

DARK DAYS FOR THIS COUNTRY

By far the most exciting personal transaction that occurred among the first generation of American statesmen and politicians, was the fatal encounter between Col. Aaron Burr, at the time Vice President of the United States, and Gen. Alexander Hamilton, formerly secretary of the Treasury, on July 11, 1804. In this affair of honor Hamilton was the victim, but scarcely less so Burr, for the latter was killed politically, was driven into exile and across his name was stamped a sinister blot which remains to this day in spite of the many attempts at whitewashing.

The tragedy at Weehawken, N. J., had in it every element of pathos. Hamilton was young, as statesmen go—only forty-seven. He had an adored wife and a household of children, with whom he was living happily on the stately grange overlooking the Hudson river in the neighborhood of Fort George, on whose lawn he had planted thirteen gum trees in memory of the thirteen States he loved so well.

The young republic needed him badly. He was not an autocrat, and a lover of peace rather than trouble. And last, but not least, he was no believer in duelling. He had lost a son in that way. He was forced against his principles by Burr's challenge to participate in a murderous combat and would not attempt to fire at the adversary whose first bullet mortally wounded him. It is impossible to underestimate the share this fact played in the general indignation against Burr.

Principles were dear to the men of '76; a passionate revulsion against all constraint of conscience was the very seed and heart of the new fruit of liberty, and at a time when duelling ruled Europe and society unquestioned, the bold American "plain people" called the death of Hamilton common murder.

The animosity between Burr and Hamilton, as the leaders respectively of the two great political parties, was very bitter. Burr always seemed to be looking for some excuse to bring on a conflict with Hamilton. He finally found such in letters written by a zealous partisan in which it stated that Hamilton had spoken of Burr as a dangerous man, and the writer added that he could detail a still more despicable opinion which General Hamilton had expressed of Mr. Burr.

Upon this latter passage Burr seized as the means of forcing Hamilton to fight. He wrote to Hamilton, demanding to know what was referred to. He received a reply which he claimed was evasive. William P. Van Ness was chosen by Burr to deliver the challenge. The date was set. The duellists met at the banquet of the Society of Cincinnati, of which Hamilton was president and Burr a member, several days before the duel, but neither recognized the other.

The fatal morning came. Burr arrived first and Hamilton followed soon after. The second marked the distance, the duellists took their positions and at the command of "present" of the Hamilton second, both parties presented and fired in succession. The fire of Burr took effect. Hamilton sprang upon his toes with a convulsive movement, reeled a little towards the heights, at which moment he involuntarily discharged his pistol, and then fell headlong upon his face and remained motionless upon the ground. His ball rested among the branches seven feet above the head of his antagonist and four feet wide of him.

Burr heard it, looked up and saw where it had severed a twig. Looking at Hamilton, he beheld him falling and advanced toward him with a manner and gesture that appeared to be expressive of regret, but without speaking, turned about and withdrew. No further communication took place between the principals. Burr crossed in his barge to New York and Hamilton was borne away tenderly in the arms of his seconds to his home. He expired the following day.

The death of this illustrious statesman was universally deplored as a national calamity second only to that of Washington himself. The indignation against Burr knew no bounds.

His fixed determination to bring Hamilton within range of his pistol, feeling sure of being able to kill him, caused his act to be branded as willful murder, and an indictment was duly found against him; but in a few days he fled, an outlaw and an outcast, and thus eluded justice.—(Louisville Post.)

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF IN MATTERS OF INTEREST

It makes no difference whether it is millinery, skirts or germs—the present season cannot claim anything new under the sun. The deeper we dig into the historical and traditional past, the more we realize we are legatees of the old days and races.

Centuries ago, Russia and the European Continent were swept by an epidemic of an influenza type that passed into history. Now and then it cropped out again in limited areas. Over twenty centuries ago the whole world was swept by this same disease in an aggravated form and generally named "La Grippe." Since then year by year we have known and experienced with the Grippe germ in all its forms and force. Much has been learned about the proper treatment of these cases, but the best specialists and doctors have agreed that the standard food-medicine, which has done duty for nearly forty years is still the sheet-anchor for all Grippe victims. Scott's Emulsion relieves the cough, lessens the aches and relieves the prostrating weakness of this disease by thoroughly nourishing every part of the body with the oil food which the health of the body requires when Grippe germs are active. The Emulsion is especially useful in the lung form of the present epidemic, which is the most severe and widespread we have had for more than twenty years.

The Colds That Hang On
Are readily cured by Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey. It relieves the colds and stops the cough. There is only one genuine.

Another Big Number of Lippincott's.
Lippincott's Magazine seems determined to outdo itself during 1911 for the general excellence of its contents. Following the wholly admirable issues for January and February, with their complete novels by Zona Gale and George Randolph Chester, comes the March number, no whit behind. The complete novel is "The Little Brown Shoe," by Ella Middleton Tybout, who has "The Smuggler," "The Wife of the Secretary of State," and other well liked books to her credit. The plot is an unusual one, with a cleverly sustained mystery, the clue to which is "the little brown shoe." The scenes are laid in a Southern mountain region, some of the leading characters being society folk, others humble mountaineers. All are realistically depicted, and all have definite parts in the plot. There is no groping about or padding, as in so many stories. The author has had a clearly defined end in view, and she has worked towards it in masterly fashion. The story shows a distinct advance over her previous work.

The short stories are a carefully selected lot, covering a wide range of themes.

A Fierce Night Alarm
Is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by cough. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, O., R. R. No. 2, for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever, la grippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages, fly before it. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Sold by James H. Williams.

THINKS MANY BURIED ALIVE

Charges Made by Noted
French Surgeon

ARE STIRRING MEDICAL WORLD

Supposed Corpses Often Revive
Under Distressing Circumstances.

SOME "MEDICAL SLAUGHTERS"

The great medical men of this university city, like their colleagues in Berlin, St. Petersburg and Munich, are discussing the possibility of being buried though not dead, for one equally as terrible, that of vivisection on human bodies supposed to be dead.

The widespread discussion is caused, of course, by the French Academy's endorsement of the work of Dr. Jeard, of Marseilles, who showed by proof that annually several persons in France die on the operating table after having been declared dead, or are buried alive. The doctor's observation and strictures are mainly directed against the public hospitals, most of them administered by church organizations.

In France, he reminds us, physicians are not obliged to investigate the death of persons said to be dead in hospitals. They merely sign the report of death made by the nurse, whereupon the body is given over to burial or vivisection. Dr. Jeard brings proof of 40 such cases in his own town, giving names and dates, the correctness of which are acknowledged by the Academy of Sciences.

He tells of some cases where supposed dead people rallied on the dissecting table under the surgeon's knife.

A particularly horrible case is that of a young girl, whose heart was taken from the chest to demonstrate some point to the students. As the incision was made, some of the spectators thought they heard the dead girl moan, and the action of the heart subsequently proved that she was alive when medically slaughtered.

The doctor also tells of a case where brutal nurses placed a dying man in a coffin, in order to get to their supper a few minutes before time. The man actually died of fright, as the autopsy showed.

These French facts, say the scientists, here and in other parts of Europe, ought to make the health authorities all over the world revise their various hospital practices. As a general thing, bodies are too quickly placed on ice, and many people who still had a chance of recovery no doubt are frozen to death.

Only quite recently a supposedly dead person came to life while being transported to the freezing room, and that happened in the clinic of a celebrated Viennese physician.

In Austria the custom of connecting the hand of the dead or supposedly dead, with a bell—Mark Twain has a gruesome story about this—was abandoned because as a dead body becomes rigid, the hand, touching the bell rope, is very liable to give a twist and thus cause unnecessary alarm. Besides it was found that timid death watchers frequently disconnected the bell to forestall any possible alarms.

A high army surgeon who attended the Russian-Japanese War, referring to the death bell custom, said:

"In one of the skirmishes around Port Arthur I saw a number of Japanese soldiers shot through the breast or head, great fountains of blood gushing out, yet they kept on their horses and advanced with their comrades as if nothing had happened. Several did fall to the ground for three or four minutes, one being laid low by a cannon ball, causing a tremendous impact; others fell after colliding with their comrades or the enemy. Their legs got stiffened by death and thus they remained in the saddle, though dead."

Persons writing to newspapers here, in Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg, demand the freezing of dead bodies by undertakers and hospitals to be forbidden by law.

Others demand that the coffin lid be not screwed down and that the coffin be not covered with earth for several days after burial. Likewise that the coffin receive outer air and that an alarm clock be operated from within the coffin by a dry battery.—(Vienna Cor. Boston Post.)

The Early Worm.
A father had been lecturing his young hopeful upon the evils of staying out late at night and getting up late in the morning. "You will never amount to anything," he continued, "unless you turn over a new leaf. Remember that the early bird catches the worm." "How about the worm, father?" Inquired the young man, "wasn't he rather foolish to get up so early?" "My son," said the father, solemnly, "that worm hadn't been to bed all night; he was on his way home."

There is Only One Pine-Tar-Honey That is Dr. Bell's. It is the original and can be relied on in croup, coughs, colds and all lung and bronchial troubles. Look for the bell on the bottle.

WONDER IF SOME WOMEN EVER THOUGHT OF THIS?

Have you noticed that a good smart talk straight from the shoulder once in awhile accomplishes more reform than an every-day nagging for a month?

Do you think it is fair to make your husband feel that he is doing wrong in bringing home the chance guest unexpectedly, even if it does inconvenience you?

Do you know that the masculine mind has an abhorrence for narrow, critical, bigoted views?

Have you sufficient strength of character to let petty grievances drop into the past?

Have you ever really considered the sweetness and significance of the old saying that "the home of a husband is the heart of his wife?"

A Cold, La Grippe, Then Pneumonia is too often the fatal sequence. Foley's Honey and Tar expels the cold, checks the grip, and prevents pneumonia. It is a prompt and reliable cough medicine that contains no narcotics. "Foley's Honey and Tar" is the best cough remedy I ever used, as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhr, Princeton, Neb. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, la grippe and lung trouble. It is as safe for your children as for yourself, and should be used in all cases of croup, whooping cough and measles cough. Refuse substitutes.

COST OF AIR TRAVEL —SOME COMPARISONS—

The average cost of air travel is $15 a mile, it is calculated by Heriot, as against 1 cent a mile by trolley, 2 cents a mile by railroad train and 25 cents a mile by high-power automobiles. Large aeroplanes cost from $3,500 to $6,000. A shed to house 'em cannot be built for less than $750. A mechanic at $3 to $5 a day is another necessity, not to speak of a watchman at $2 per. For these and other reasons, plain ordinary commuters who have to eat corned beef and cabbage for financial reasons once a week, are barred from aerial locomotion for awhile.—[New York Press.]

Warning to Railroad Men.
Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroad-ing. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroad-ing left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Sold by all druggists.

Desperation.
"Are you running a hospital?" asked the advertising clerk through the telephone.

"No, sir," answered the tired voice at the other end of the wire, "but I want to advertise for three nurses just the same. I'm the father of triplets, and they're all teething at once."

SUIT AGAINST ROUGH RIVER

Telephone Co. Doing Business at Hartford.

EFFORT MADE TO FORECLOSE

Plaintiffs Seek to Seel Property and Franchises to Satisfy Bonds.

ASK JUDGMENT IN SUM OF $5,000

The Owensboro Inquirer of yesterday says:

A suit has been filed in the United States Court by Russell, Brewster & Company, doing business at Chicago, against the Rough River Telephone company at Hartford, and John A. Armstrong. The plaintiff prays for a judgment for $5,000, and for a sale of the entire holdings of the telephone company, together with all its franchises, lines, etc.

The petition states that on October 31, 1901, the Rough River Telephone company executed 10 mortgage bonds of $500 each, to John A. Armstrong as trustee. The bonds were to bear interest at 6 per cent, payable semi-annually, and due five years after date. At the time of the execution of the bonds a mortgage was also given on the following property: The exchange and switchboard and property rights on 28 miles of toll line, from Hartford to Owensboro, including Centertown, Ceralvo, Point Pleasant, Island and Livermore, also from Hartford to Rander, Williams Mines, Melleny and Rockport; also Hartford to Horton, Rosline and Horse Branch; also its lines from Hartford to Beaver Dam, Prentiss, Cromwell, Select and Hazelton.

The petition says that Armstrong has no interest in this controversy, other than as the naked holder of the legal title for the benefit of the bondholders, and he has declined to bring suit on same, although requested to do so, as the bonds and interest are past due and unpaid.

The prayer of the petition is that the Rough River Telephone company and John A. Armstrong appear in court, and by their answers, set forth a true and particular account of all the property owned by the telephone company at the time of the execution of the bonds and mortgage, and also all the property acquired since that time, and finally for a sale of same to pay the $5,000 with interest.

FISHERMAN'S RED NOSE PROVED TEMPTING BAIT

Winsted, Conn., March 5.—"Hi" Shomper, a local fisherman, who returned from an outing in Otis yesterday evening, had an unusual experience while fishing through the ice.

One of the lines became fast to something, and Shomper, lying flat on his stomach on the ice, was floating into the water to ascertain, if possible, what held the hook.

He put his head so low in the hole that the tip of his red nose touched the water, and a pickerel, thinking it a piece of beefsteak, grabbed it.

Shomper naturally pulled his head up quickly and the pickerel dropped on the ice. It measured fourteen inches long.

Shomper has the marks of the fish's teeth on his nose.

The Fourth District Leader, of Hardinsburg, says:

E. Mac Davis, who has been in the mercantile business at West View for a number of years, has sold out and moved to Hartford. As a merchant, Mr. Davis was very successful and his going away is regretted. He has secured a farm near Hartford, and will farm this season.

Nineteen additional indictments were returned by a special grand jury investigating the lynching of Carl Etherington at Newark, O.

American Fence

AMERICAN FENCE

The short timber supply and the high prices of good wood fencing materials make the wire farm fence an economical necessity. If you buy a fence, you want a good one. If we sell you a fence, we can't sell you anything else. We handle nothing but the AMERICAN FENCE. There is none better. Twenty-six inch, 39-inch and 47-inch fences carried in stock. We can furnish the fence that pays.

Liles and Corp. Blair will spend the entire thirty days.

MADE TO GET IN ON AND NOT TO STAND ON

The Republican national platform of 1896 said, "protection and reciprocity are twin measures of Republican policy and go hand in hand." Theodore Roosevelt, in one of his Presidential messages, declared that reciprocity was the "handmaiden" of protection. But when the vote on Canadian reciprocity was taken in the House of Representatives the "handmaiden" was compelled to depend upon Democrats for her defense.

Republican platforms—like the platforms on railroad cars—are made to get in on and not to stand on. For instance, the Republican platform of 1908 promised tariff revision.—[Bryan's Commoner.
